Luke Welch

Luke Welch was born in Toronto, Canada and grew up in the nearby city of Mississauga. He played his first public recital at age twelve.

His first private piano instructors include Kyzysztof Jedrysik and Catherine Kuzeljevich, and he later completed Bachelor and Master of Music degrees at the University of Western Ontario in Canada under the tutelage of John-Paul Bracey.

Welch has also participated in the classes of distinguished artists including Jean-Bernard Pommier, Cécile Ousset, Dang Thai Son, André Laplante, Jean-Paul Sevilla, and Stéphane Lemelin. He made his concerto debut in 2004 with the Durham Chamber Orchestra, and has performed extensively on the international stage including appearances in Canada, United States, Netherlands, Germany, Italy, and the United Kingdom - including England, Scotland, and Wales. In addition to his solo appearances, he continues an ongoing collaboration with vocalist Brigitte Hovee. He has received national and international awards and grants based in both Canada and Europe.

In 2010, he completed further graduate studies at the Codarts Rotterdam Conservatory in the Netherlands while studying in the class of Aquiles Delle Vigne. In addition to his performance commitments and private teaching, he has been working at the Codarts Rotterdam Conservatory as well as a number of national and international music and dance institutions including Dans Ateliers (Rotterdam), TopDance Studio, Scapino Ballet, Nederlands Dans Theatre (The Hague, NL), Amsterdam School of the Arts (AHK), KC Royal Conservatory (The Hague, NL), and ArtEZ Institute of the Arts (Arnhem, NL) as well as Erasmusica and the Maya Talent School.
